- Thomas Edison once said, "To invent, you need a good imagination and a pile of junk."
- A medical device inventor does not necessarily mean he/she need to be an expert in the medical or biotech field.
- The " ah ha moment" would be gone if we try to apply the limits to innovations.
- The patent applications should be reviewed and examed by an expert in the field of the patent filed, however, everyone should be encouraged to and be given a chance to be an inventor.

Thank you!
